Commencement week began with the baccalaureate sermon that was given by Rev. J. W. Greenwood at Michelson Memorial church. He took for his text "Graduating—To What?" He cautioned the members of the class to align their interests with the christian church. He pointed out the danger that confronted some whom would come into contact with college professors who tried to break down the church. He assured them that there was no quarrel between science and religion but that each proved the other.

Class Night

With Miss Quackenbush at the piano the members of the class of 1929 marched to the platform Tuesday night there to present to the public their class night program. The young ladies were arrayed in becoming green dresses with white collars. The young men wore white overalls and green ties. The class colors—green and white, were thus carried out in their attire as well as in the stage decorations. Green and white drapes hung from the stage doors and windows. In front of the platform were baskets of flowers in which the colors green and white predominated. Above the stage was the class motto "The Horizon Widens as We Climb." One basket contained a large cluster of white roses, the class flower.

The first number on the program was the president's address given by Stanley G. Stephan. For each of the four high school years he had been elected and served as the class president. For this confidence he sincerely thanked the members of his class. He also extended the thanks of the class to those who have been at the heads of the school all these years, to the patrons of the school who have made it possible for them to acquire an education.

Salutatory was given by Miss Ellen E. Speck whose theme was the relationship between science and religion.

Miss Laura V. Knibbs in her class prophecy predicted many fine things for her classmates, some of which were highly amusing. Some of her predictions bid fair to materialize, others will no doubt partly develop and others will be way off, of course.

Laurence E. Fenton disposed of the possessions of the class of 1929 very generously to their successors. From things that are material to those of principle, characteristics, inspirations, all were cleverly bequeathed to the most worthy beneficiaries.

Miss Corinne C. Sheldon gave a very clever class poem, and in verse portrayed the sentiments of her classmates.

In the class history Elmer E. Neal gave a resume of the epochal incidents in their four years of high school experiences. It was a record of industry, of achievement, pleasant social events, athletic victories and scholastic successes.

It would have been difficult to select one better fitted to distribute class gifts than William R. Garner. In his clever way he saw to it that the members of the faculty received gifts from the class best suited for each person. And the gifts exchanged among each individual member of the class were just right too. This caused a lot of amusement.

At the close of his address he invited T. W. Hanson to come to the platform. Mr. Hanson told some interesting things about the progress of our schools since the establishment of the first high school on the corner now occupied by the Peter L. Brown residence, up to the present fine school building. He also told of some who had won splendid honors at Grayling and been credits in later activities. He said that it was with a great deal of pleasure that some of the citizens wished to show their esteem for Charles S. Wylie, a member of the class, for his fine influence and clean sportsmanship he had shown throughout his high school years and that in remembrance they wished to leave with him a watch that, as it ticked away the time in future years, that he might be reminded of his days in Grayling school and of the friends he had won during that time.

Mr. Wylie is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Wylie of this city. He has by his exemplary habits and fine principles won the esteem of not only his class mates but of those outside of the school as well. This honor extended to Charles is well bestowed and one in which his class mates are equally pleased.

To Lewis W. Engel fell the honor of valedictorian. By his permission his address is published on another page of this issue.

Class night was closed by the singing of the class song that was written by Miss Pauline B. Lietz.

This was the last night in which the members might meet informally, when they might be themselves and give the program as they wanted to give it—partly formal, partly rollicking and partly pathetic. Where a laugh could be induced it was done. To add to the informality the young men wore signs on their backs of local business places—just for fun and no charge. After the class song they walked to the front of the stage and turned their backs for the audience to read, and then all marched off the stage.

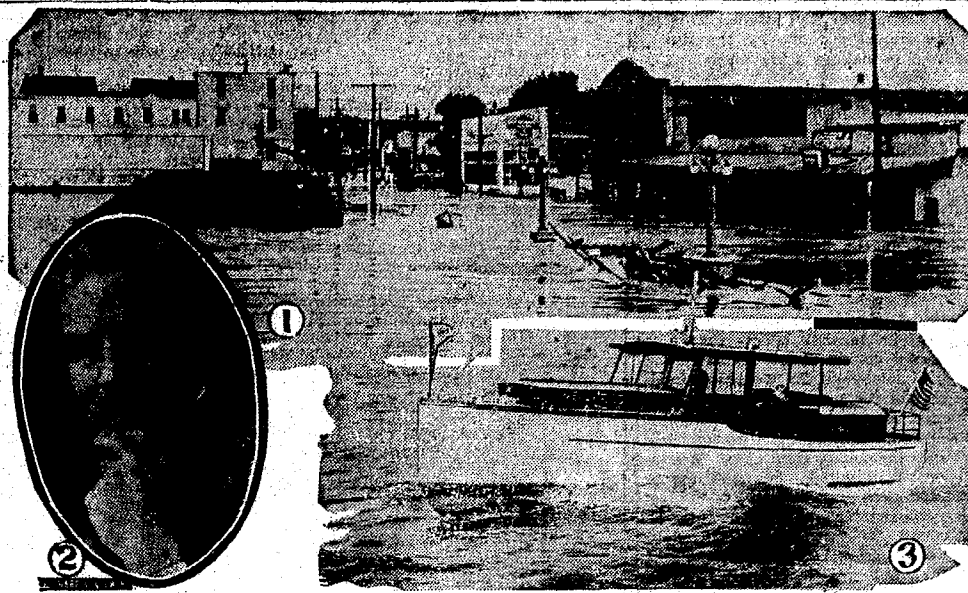

Commencement

The commencement exercises were held Wednesday evening, at which time Attorney General Wilbur H. Brucker, of Lansing was the speaker.

Wearing gray gowns and mortarboard caps the members of the Senior class marched onto the stage to music by Miss Quackenbush. Accompanying the class to the platform were Dr. Keyport and Mr. Bates, of the Board of Education; Rev. Greenwood, Supt. Bogue and Mr. Brucker.

The audience enjoyed listening to a vocal trio by Miss Marie Schmidt, Mrs. Roy Milnes and Miss Vella Hermann. Invocation was offered by Rev. Greenwood after which Supt. Bogue introduced the speaker—Mr. Brucker.

Mr. Brucker gave one of the most constructive and interesting commencement addresses we have ever been privileged to hear. His address was quite devoid of flowery oratory but instead was brimming over with sensible and wholesome suggestions that may wisely be adopted by not only the members of the graduating class but by both the young and old who heard him. He said he deemed it a rare privilege to be permitted to address a graduating class, and then in his able way began to unfold his message on "Education."

1—Scene in Houston, Texas, where vast damage was done by flood waters of the Buffalo bayou. 2—Ramsay MacDonald, Laborite, who became prime minister of Great Britain. 3—Express cruiser Mouette in which Colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh spent their honeymoon.

"New times," he said, "demand new methods." The summary of his components of success were as follows:

- 1—Mastery of human relationships.
- 2—Ability to think.
- 3—Constancy of purpose.
- 4—Self-discipline.
- 5—Personality.
- 6—Precision.
- 7—Vitality.
- 8—Independence.

A few of the points of interest brot out by the speaker are as follows:

Industrial development.
Science—Thinking in hemispheres.
Human relationships.
Education—Time is now here when men in executive positions are met with test.

Our problems are human not economic. Ability to deal successfully with his fellows by personal contact. Ideas of work and play. Old way—That which duty compelled us to do. Play that which we did because we liked to do it. New way—Work is better done when it becomes play.

We are not done studying when we leave school.

We must teach people to do things instead of merely teaching people to learn things.

Basis for meeting transformed world is ability to think. It is better to have intellectual indigestion than mental stagnation.

Another basis of meeting this new age is constancy of purpose—by specialization. The larger the work the greater the demand it places upon us.

Self discipline is imperative in this new age. Do the thing that is necessary—Don't find excuses to avoid doing it.

Development of personality is most important. Throw yourself into the work.

Precision—crying need of the age. Exact, definite, accurate, not vague or equivocal.

Vitality—resisting power. The world bristles with opportunities.

Independence—ability to have confidence and inspire confidence.

Dr. Keyport, President of the Board of Education introduced Secy. M. A. Bates who gave out the graduation diplomas.

After another vocal trio by Miss Schmidt, Mrs. Milnes and Miss Hermann, Rev. Greenwood closed the meeting with benediction.

The above is only the briefest sketch of Mr. Brucker's address. It was highly inspirational and edifying. We have heard only words of praise for his message.

Mr. Brucker is a veteran of the World war. His home was in Saginaw where he served his county as prosecuting attorney. When Attorney General W. W. Potter was appointed to the Supreme bench, Gov. Green selected Mr. Brucker to fill that vacancy. Today he is being strongly talked of as a likely candidate for governor. We are sure he made a lot of friends upon his visit to Grayling.

APPRECIATION

In accepting the fine gift of a gold watch from the citizens of Grayling, presented to me at my graduation, I am not unmindful of the responsibility that I owe the public. I have been doubtful at times as to whether or not I am deserving of the fine things that have been said of me. This certainly is an inspiration in my life that I hope is going to aid me in keeping faith with the trust that is reposed in me by my friends and fellow citizens. And Dad and Mother join me in expressing my sincere thanks and gratitude.

CHARLES S. WYLIE.

HANS R. NELSON DIES AFTER BRIEF ILLNESS

WAS RESIDENT OF GRAYLING SINCE 1905

Hans R. Nelson, one of Grayling's highly esteemed and progressive citizens, passed away at his home Saturday night following a week's illness of pleuro-pneumonia. Mr. Nelson who has been busy building cottages on the Nelson property at Lake Margrethe came home at 12:00 Monday night of last week seriously ill, suffering from an attack of pleurisy. The illness developed into pneumonia and he grew steadily worse passing away at 11:30 o'clock Saturday night. The funeral was held yesterday afternoon with brief services at the home at two o'clock, followed by services at Michelson Memorial church. Rev. J. W. Greenwood officiated and the deceased was laid to rest with Masonic ceremony.

Hans Robert Nelson was born in Langeland, Denmark, March 19, 1877. When he was two years old his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Nelson came to America and settled in Union Grove, Wisconsin. In 1889 the family came to Grayling, where Hans attended school until he was sixteen years old. At that time the family again returned to Union Grove, where they had a number of relatives and Hans finally learned the dairy and creamery business and owned such a business at Grand Rapids, Wisconsin. In this city he met and was united in marriage to Mathilda Helke in December, 1902. He remained in business there until 1905 when he sold out and with his wife returned to Grayling. He established the first creamery in Grayling and it was located on the south side of the river at his home near the State street bridge. About three years later when automobiles began to be the thing he launched into the vulcanizing business, his shop being the first one in Grayling and this was located in the building which he had used for a creamery. Soon his business in vulcanizing and automobile repairing grew so fast that he extended it by erecting a building on Cedar street where the Alfred Hanson Service Station now stands and which after several years he sold to the present owner. After selling out he built a similar structure on the corner of Ottawa street and U. S.-27 and established the present business for his son Earl, known as the Nelson Service Station.

Following the death of his father Peter Nelson, a few years ago, Mr. Nelson began improving the land at Lake Margrethe, where the latter had operated a farm for years recently having just finished building his fourth cottage. He was a finished carpenter also, and with high ambitions and energy. In fact it seemed he made a success of everything he attempted.

Surviving the deceased are his wife, daughter Miss Grace and son Earl, his mother, Mrs. Laurine Nelson of Grayling; one brother, Walter, Gaylord and four sisters, Mrs. Clara White and Mrs. Mabel Hoffman of Lansing; Mrs. Emma Fredericksen of Dublin, Calif., and Mrs. Minnie Roberts, Grayling; also two young grandsons.

Those from out of the city who came to be in attendance at the funeral are Mr. and Mrs. J. Wm. Hoffman, Mr. and Mrs. Charles White, Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Nelson, Gaylord; three sisters of Mrs. Nelson, Mrs. William Lemke, Cleveland, and Mrs. Emma Knuth, Mrs. Mary Glebe, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Glebe and baby, all of Milwaukee.

COMMENCEMENT SEASON FOR FREDERIC HIGH SCHOOL

The baccalaureate sermon was the opening event for the Seniors and a much larger crowd than usual turned out to listen to the excellent counsel of divine truth given by Rev. D. N. Earl of the Frederic Methodist Protestant church.

Many people also came to the High School auditorium to listen to the commencement exercises which was pronounced by many to be one of the most successful programs ever given in Frederic.

The Playground march was rendered by Miss Rosalie Stammler and to its pretty melody the class of 1929 marched in, consisting of Miss Lillian Cline, Miss Olive Odell and Mr. Karl Goshorn. The opening and closing songs, "Let us smile as we say goodbye," and "Farewell to Thee," were very sweetly sung by the Misses Ethel and Eyma Barber, Rosalie Stammler and Clara Hunter.

The Invocation was given by Rev. Earl. The Salutatory was given by Miss Olive Odell. Miss Odell gave many excellent thoughts and her oration was very well received.

"The Four Year's Campaign," was the title of an oration rendered by Mr. Karl Goshorn. This oration which was a kind of burlesque on Caesar's "War in Gaul," was very cleverly applied to the activities of the class during their high school course and received many favorable comments. A solo "Just a Little Bit of Driftwood" by Miss Rosalie Stammler received a fine appreciation from the audience. Miss Lillian Cline, the valedictorian of the class, gave the closing words of appreciation and farewell. Her oration was replete with good thoughts and backed up as they were by a forceful delivery, made a lasting impression on her listeners. With a few well chosen words, secretary C. S. Barber presented the diplomas to the class.

The Seventh grade certificates and Eighth grade diplomas were presented to the pupils of Maple Forest and Frederic townships by Rev. J. W. Greenwood of Michelson Memorial church of Grayling. On to high school as a means of preparation for the very best in life was the principal thought given by the speaker.

Rev. Greenwood also gave the commencement address to the Senior class. He chose for his subject "Life's Misfits," and it was one of the best addresses ever given in Frederic. It was brimful of the cleverest thoughts for the young men and women making their final decision upon their future activities. Frederic people feel that they have received a real treat from Rev. Greenwood as he also gave a memorial address in the high school auditorium to a very appreciative audience. Mr. Greenwood is a fine type of modern minister who, while he does absolute justice to those that have given their lives for their country never fails to preach the truth to the living.

Thus another class has graduated from Frederic and their high school activities have become a matter of history.

JUNIOR HIGH STUDENT WINS SCHOLARSHIP PRIZE GIVEN BY SUPT. PAYNE

Miss Ila Welch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Welch of Frederic earned the highest average standing in the Frederic high school, and as a result of her activity will receive the scholarship prize. Miss Welch, who is an A student, has been very faithful this year and both she and her parents have reason to be proud of her record.

ELMON WILBUR 1851-1929

At the County Home, Grayling, on the 6th of June, 1929, there passed away after several months increasing weakness, Elmon Wilbur.

Mr. Wilbur was born August 10, 1851, at Ogdensburg, N. Y. In 1874 at Brockville, Canada, he was married to Miss Amelia Barber. To this union were born six children, two of which are now living; Charles B. of Grayling and G. Arthur of Lansing, Mich.

In 1881, they located at Frederic where on May 22, 1886, Mrs. Wilbur predeceased him.

The funeral was held on Saturday from the Sorenson Bros. Undertaking Parlor and taken to Frederic Methodist church. Rev. J. W. Greenwood, assisted by Rev. Earle of Frederic, officiating. Interment was in Frederic cemetery.

SENIOR CLASS GIVES AN ATTRACTIVE BANQUET

On Wednesday evening, at 6 p. m., Bob's Place was the scene of an attractive banquet tendered by the Senior class and was attended by members of the faculty and their wives, High School teachers, and Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Greenwood.

Mr. Hill very graciously acted as toast-master and proved to be a genial leader. Several short toasts were given by members of the faculty and teachers, and Mr. Bates as the special speaker of the occasion gave a very well prepared address on the theme "Success." The program of necessity was comparatively short owing to the Commencement starting at 8 p. m. but a banquet of this nature is to be commended, and becomes another red-letter date in the festivities of the Senior class.

BUDDING YOUTH

Editor Schuyler Marshall of St. Johns after taking a Sunday ride through the environs of his home shire, immediately thereafter sat down and penned an editorial on the effect of spring on budding youth, and in emphasizing the points of his editorial says:

"Just before reaching Brighton we overtook a car that looked vaguely familiar—but there seemed to be but one person in it and that person wending an uncertain, wobbly course at about a fifteen mile an hour speed. Approaching closely, we recognized the couple who had passed us earlier, in the throes of a catch-as-catch-can, approved movie fade out. Two hearts beat as one—oblivious of traffic, road conditions, everything in fact but their own arduous occupation. Other motorists gave them as wide a berth as the highway afforded.

"This case was but one of several which made trunkline driving hazardous Sunday. It was but one example of what springtime, sunshine and balmy breezes will do to the heart of youth. It is but one of many thousands of causes of serious traffic accidents. Not only are the happy participants in danger, but every old codger who witnesses such ardent demonstrations is apt to do almost anything, drive straight into the ditch, a tree or another speeding machine."

To correct these dangers that confront one on the beaten paths, he proposes that State Highway Commissioner Dillman designate certain highways as "open season roads." On these roads let 'em love to their heart's content, even as on certain streams in the state the anglers can fish unmolested. Trunk line and county improved roads should be "closed roads."

"This would work out fine for the lovers and less distracting to middle aged traffic. It would eliminate much danger and encourage that perfectly worthy and pleasurable institution which leads up to the union of happy hearts and the establishing of homes. "If the legislature were not to adjourn so soon, some practical minded lawmaker might elaborate on this scheme and attach a license fee—say a $1.00 license for resident sponsors and $5.00 for non-residents. The proceeds could go to buy smoked glasses for middle and old-age drivers. But that can wait. Let's protect life and limb first."

POOR LOGIC

CRIME reformers, citing the fact that England, where possession of small arms is forbidden, has fewer crimes of violence than the United States, reach the conclusion that an anti-pistol law is the panacea that will save this country from the criminal.

This logic is superficially persuasive but far from complete. The lack of crime in England is due mainly to the fact that its courts are efficient and justice swift, and that it has the greatest centralized police system known.

Scotland Yard officers are sent to all parts of England to investigate major crimes. In this country it is up to small town sheriffs and constables who usually lack both facilities and training.

In English courts evasion, technicalities and red tape, designed to cloud the facts, are unknown. Immediately on commission of a crime, expert detectives are given the evidence and in most cases find the criminal. He is immediately tried, sentenced and adequately punished.

American crime reformers would do well to imitate the real cause of English efficiency instead of promoting a law vulnerable in theory and which in practice tends to disarm the law-abiding and not the criminal.

GASOLINE TAX PROBLEMS

TEN years ago Oregon and Colorado inaugurated the gasoline tax. On August 1, when the new Illinois three-cent tax goes into effect, every state and the District of Columbia will be levying a tax against motor fuel.

The tax now runs from two to six cents a gallon and the trend has been one of constant increase.

Last year the average tax was three cents. In 35 states the entire net revenue, after deducting collection costs, was used for rural road purposes. In three states a part of the tax was used for public school purposes; in five a portion went for street construction; in two states the small sums were placed in the general state fund, and in several other states part of the gas tax was employed for purposes beside road building.

Here are the two great imminent dangers of the gasoline tax. One is to increase the amount until it is out of economic proportion to the cost of fuel; the other is to use a special tax, levied against a certain portion of the population, for general purposes. When these are done, the tax becomes unfair, confiscatory and an obnoxious example of class legislation.

Because the gas tax is easily levied and collected is no reason why legislatures should increase it when funds for some purpose or other are needed. The automobile, from a social and business standpoint, has almost unlimited benefits. To raise the tax beyond natural limits or to use the money for other purposes than road building and maintenance, legislates against a great agency of pleasure and progress.

EDITORIAL PARAGRAPHS

Remember the good old days when you were a youngster and all you had to worry about was whether or not it would rain on Thursday of the county fair week?

We know many a fellow who would be satisfied with his job if he could get somebody else to work it for him.

If some chemist would only find a way to make automobile tires out of corn the farm problem would be solved.

The liberals who think they can end all war by getting Uncle Sam into a world convention might try out their theory first by calling a convention of wets and drays and trying to settle the liquor question. If they can put that over we will have a little more confidence in their ability to untangle the mazes of European politics.

Educational experts say that the little red school house must give way to the march of human progress. Well, couldn't we convert it into a wayside tea room or make it over into a gym for the school basketball team?

It is said that Germany has learned installment buying from the United States. Well that is one way to get even with her for the war.

The ideal time of the year is when it is too warm to have to bother with the coal man and not warm enough to have anything to do with the ice man.

Total fuel consumption of the Rouge Plant of the Ford Motor Company during the past year was 12,700 carloads, enough to make a coal train 100 miles long.

Local Happenings

Mrs. Cecelia Jorgenson and son Axel returned to their home in Detroit Wednesday after a several weeks visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Johannes Rasmussen.

Ernest Habbitt and John Erkes have purchased new Marquette cars from Schoonover & Hanson. This is a new model put out by the Buick Co. and is making a big hit.

George Burke did a good streak of business this week, selling a Ford Station Wagon to P. F. H. Morley of Lovells, a 1½ ton truck to Mrs. S. O. Richardson for use at her summer home on the river, and a Delco lighting system to J. S. Porter of Jackson who with others are erecting a cabin on the AuSable river, across from the Whip-poor-will club.

In our report in last week's edition of the Avalanche it was stated that the $11,464.00 that is to come to Crawford county from the Michigan Central mortgage tax would be divided among the several townships. This County Treasurer Ferguson says is not correct but that the amount will go into the county fund only. Whether or not it will be general fund or the county highway fund has not yet been determined. At any rate all property owners will be benefited by the proceeds and it will greatly help either fund.

Grayling Independents went to Gaylord last Sunday and defeated the Gaylord All City in a fast game of baseball. The score was 15 and 19. "Babe" Laurant, Grayling's old stand-by was on the mound for the locals and "Pete" Johnson, who at one time did a good job as catcher for the locals pitched for Gaylord. With the locals were three of this year's High School nine, Brady behind the bat, Pond held down third base and Sheehy in the outfield. Pond showed his good high school training when he hit the ball for a three bagger adding to the score. Gaylord also was strengthened by some of the members of its High School teams.

HOUSEHOLD TASKS SOMETIMES MADE BURDENSOME BY SPACING OF WORKING EQUIPMENT

The old-fashioned treadmills which derived their power from the continuous walking of animals which never got anywhere have been discarded but housewives still go on extensive walking tours which never take them beyond the kitchen, according to statements by Michigan State College home management specialists who accompany a traveling kitchen built to show methods of saving steps.

A re-arrangement of the position of kitchen equipment sometimes saves busy mothers the task of walking hundreds of additional miles each year. One woman walked 250 miles while doing household tasks one month.

Farm kitchens are often large and the working equipment is usually placed to look well instead of being grouped to save steps. When a distance of several steps separates the stove, the work table, the sink, and the cupboards, the labor of preparing family meals is increased unnecessarily.

The model kitchen which is mounted on a truck has been arranged to enable the work to be done with the least possible steps. Lighting systems, water systems, and a complete bathroom are also carried on the truck which will visit many Michigan counties this summer.

Counties which will be visited are Gladwin, Bay, Arenac, Iosco, Alcona, Oscoda, Alpena, Presque Isle, Cheboygan, Otsego, Montmorency, Crawford, Roscommon, Ogemaw, and Clare.

MUSIC LEADERS MEET JUNE 25-27

Aimless indignation accomplishes nothing.—Farm and Fireside.

FLAG DAY

Friday, June 14, is Flag Day. This special day will be observed throughout the nation.

The occasion should be of unusual significance to all thoughtful Americans. For the first time in the history of this country a President has felt compelled to urge all the people to observe all the laws—not just those that meet with their approval.

There are no brighter pages in the world's history than the pages that have been written right here in these United States of America.

They are replete with heroic devotion and sacrifice—men have died that men might be free.

When you display the flag on your home or your place of business, let it be with reverence—with the solemn vow that you will never desert it in any way.

It is your high call to better citizenship—your enlistment in the ranks of loyal Americans pledged to stamp out disloyalty and treason within our borders.

If those who have gone on before could give their lives for the flag without question or complaint, then it is not asking too much of us to defend the heritage they left behind.

If we have had laws—mistaken laws—they will be remedied in due time, and in orderly and peaceful manner. In the meantime let us set the example of law observance for others to follow—let us assure President Hoover that our flag and our nation come first.

What The Flag Means

What American of all of us can see our starry banner flutter out on mast or tower, or pass in the street without a sudden heart throb. Love, pride, memory, exultation mingle in one swift emotion, and yet we seldom pause to think what Old Glory really means to us.

It means history—stained here and there with mistake and wrong but on the whole wonderfully glorious. It means protection—the right to live, to think, to aspire, to work in the atmosphere of the most blessed freedom and safety that our earth has ever known. It means hope—hope and help for ourselves and for all the world.

Whatever the nation is to achieve or to become in the future depends upon its citizenship, and the mighty voice of the people is but the combined voice of the individuals. What would you have our country be in honor, purity, high endeavor, and righteousness? Make one citizen of that kind; that is the part given you to do.—Kate W. Hamilton.

Easy Race for Keech

Ray Keech, daring young Philadelphia driver who won the big Indianapolis 500-mile race, had a remarkably easy time of it. He never as much as raised the hood of his tiny eight-cylinder racer and never got out of his car during the grueling five-hour grind. He stopped once to replace a blown-out tire.

Named for Paper

Niles, Mich., boasts the distinction believed unique, of being named after a newspaper. When the town was placed in 1829 the name was adopted at the suggestion of Obed Lacey, a tradesman, in honor of a Whig paper published in Baltimore by an editor of that surname.—Detroit News.

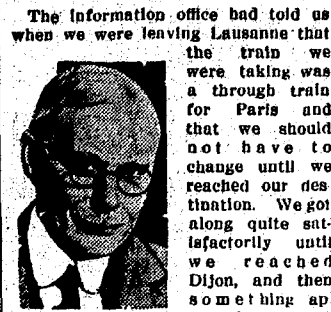

Smart and Distinctive

A smart little flock of black and white. Plaid silk forms the princess line, with a widely flared skirt set on at fingertip length. A round collar finishes the neckline with a velvet bow that matches the bolero jacket and trim cap.

SIDE-TRACKED

By THOMAS ARKLE CLARK
Dean of Men, University of Illinois.

The information office had told us when we were leaving Lausanne that the train we were taking was a through train for Paris and that we should not have to change until we reached Dijon, and then something happened. We were run off onto a siding and there we stood. No one offered any information, and we were finally awakened to the fact that we were the only passengers left in the carriage. We got off to reconnoiter, and from the guard at the station, after having pretty completely exhausted our stock of French phrases, we discovered that we were sidetracked for the day and that there was no other train leaving Dijon for Paris until the next morning. We were in a predicament; we had little ready money, and there seemed no easy way for us to get more. We should miss our connection in Paris, and our friends at the other end of the line would be annoyed and disappointed, but there was little we could do. We'd got a wrong start; we had been sidetracked, and the only thing we could do was to make the best of it. Next time we should get more accurate information.

It is not an uncommon thing for men starting out on the journey of life to get sidetracked, and once on the siding it is sometimes difficult or impossible to get off again.

Glasgow had great prospects as a preacher. He had a commanding physique, an appealing personality and a most thorough intellectual training. He married a woman of fine character and with unusual initiative, and it looked at the outset as if they were on the through train for power and influence in the community in which they established themselves. But Glasgow had scarcely started until he became sidetracked. He lost sight of the great principles of religion which make for better influence and better living and centered his attention upon the petty details of dogma, upon the unimportant differences which separate sects and gave all his energies to the emphasis of these things and he lost entirely the power and the influence which he might have exercised in stead of being on the main line he spent his life puffing up and down a side track.

Bower is sidetracked. He had a chance twenty years ago with a firm in which the greatest possibilities were open to him. But the salary was small and Bower wanted to make money at the outset. There was a girl he wanted to marry, and he could not wait. So he went with a smaller and less significant firm where the salary at the beginning was larger and the prospect of advancement less bright. That was a good many years ago, and Bower is making little more today than he was when he started and he is too old to change. He is permanently sidetracked.

SAGINAW WHOLESALERS VISIT N. E. MICHIGAN

A good fellowship tour of representatives of the Saginaw wholesale houses began at Saginaw, June 3 and ended June 6, taking the Wholesalers through many of the principal cities, towns and villages of North Eastern Michigan. The Saginawians were met at the various places by business men.

The tour was up U. S. 23 as far as Cheboygan and down U. S. 27 to Roscommon and thence to St. Melen, West Branch, Sterling and Standish.

Overnight stops were made at Alpena, Cheboygan and Grayling. Luncheon stops were made at East Tawas, Rogers City, Gaylord and West Branch.

T. F. Marston, secretary-manager of the North Eastern Michigan Development Bureau, was guest of the Wholesalers on the trip.

One of the outstanding meetings of the tour was that at Cheboygan where Hon. Fred Ming, speaker of the 1929 State House of Representatives, addressed the gathering. Mr. Ming discussed relict lands, good roads, etc. He declared that the settlement of the relict land situation will almost immediately place $1,000,000,000 on the tax roll of the state. Mr. Ming also asserted that gravel roads are only temporary roads and that the wear and tear on clothes and motor will more than repay those who travel for any extra taxes through the building of cement roads.

The tour was in charge of W. A. Rorke, secretary of the Wholesalers Merchants Bureau. E. B. Flack, president, and Charles Haensel, secretary of the Saginaw Board of Commerce, were among the 50 who accompanied the caravan.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES

To prevent horses from eating oats too rapidly, place a little chopped clover hay or some whole corn cobs in the feed box with the oats.

One of the best kinds of sweet-clover hay comes from the seedling crop harvested with wheat or rye. This mixture of sweet clover and straw cures well in the shock without much damage to the grain and makes fine feed after threshing.

Some tomato growers allow diseases to destroy their crop on the belief that spraying delays maturity. Spraying experiments conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture over a period of seven years show that there is no difference in the average earliness of sprayed and unsprayed tomatoes. Fluctuations in earliness are probably due to differences in the soil.

Alfalfa should be well in bloom when cut for hay. Cutting at an earlier stage of growth gives hay of a higher protein content, but the stand will be maintained better if it is cut when $\frac{1}{4}$ to $\frac{1}{2}$ in bloom. As the leaves contain about two-thirds of the feeding value of the plant, it is desirable to get the hay in the stack or mow with as many leaves as possible. This can be done only by a minimum amount of handling after the hay begins to dry. It should be raked before it becomes brittle, and most of the curing should be done in the cock.

There is no difference between refined beet sugar and cane sugar for use in canning, or in jelly making and preserving.

One of the most important factors in successful mushroom culture is good ventilation. This not only supplies oxygen but allows the carbonic acid gases exhaled by the growing plants to escape. Drafts should be avoided, however, as sudden changes of temperature check growth and cause darkening and cracking of the mushrooms.

Turkeys are not so domesticated as chickens and often lay their eggs in secluded spots. Hidden nests can be found by confining the turkey hens early in the morning after they come from the roosts and letting them out late in the afternoon, when they will make straight for their nests. Sometimes turkeys will take to nests made for them out of boxes or barrels.

Parasites are insidious in their attacks and will rob the livestock owner quietly and without warning. They rarely cause quick death, but parasitized animals are unthrifty and in time become emaciated and die. Such cases should be taken in hand early. Call in a good veterinarian and, if necessary, have one of the worst animals killed and examined to find out the cause of the trouble.

Here's where knotty boards can make themselves useful. A box with short, thick sides is more resistant to rough handling if it is made of knotty lumber than if it is made of clear lumber, says the Forest Service of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Boxes with short, thick sides may come apart as a result of the direct pull exerted by the contents of the boxes on the nails, unless the shocks caused by rough handling are absorbed by springing of the boards. Knotty boards absorb such shocks better than clear boards because they are more flexible.

Decayed cavities in fruit trees, besides weakening the trees, furnish a harbor for ants, wood-boring larvae, and other pests, and may be filled in with cement. All of the decayed wood should be removed first with a very sharp tool, and the edge of the bark and cambium immediately covered with a coat of shellac. Then paint the exposed wood in the cavity with a mixture of about one-third creosote and two-thirds coal tar. Use a good grade of cement in the proportion of 1 part to 2 or 3 parts of sand. The material should be mixed with water to a thick, plastic consistency and should be well tamped into the cavity. A few nails driven in the cavity will help support the cement, and a slight undercut should be made around the edges so the hardened cement will be keyed in.

There are farm water systems to suit every need and to fit every pocketbook. A $2 pitcher pump fastened to a bracket or shelf at the kitchen sink will draw water from a spring, cistern, or well several hundred feet away if the water is not more than 10 to 20 feet below the pump. A force pump, which can be bought for about $5, will permit the use of an upstairs tank with one or more cold water faucets. The addition of an $8 range boiler provides both hot and cold water. Sixty to 70 dollars spent for an automatic electric pumping unit and pressure tank, with a capacity of 3 or 4 gallons a minute, does away with the drudgery of hand pumping. This system has a pressure switch that automatically starts the pump when the pressure drops to 20 or 30 pounds and stops the pump when the pressure reaches 40 or 50 pounds.

The Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit, notes that among the 23 divers who recently graduated at the Deep Sea Diving School at the Washington Navy Yard, 6 graduates qualified for a depth of 160 ft., 1 for 200 ft., 1 for 250 ft., 2 for 275 ft. and 13 for 300 ft. An important part of the diving course consisted of instruction in both gas and electric cutting, and handling other salvage apparatus, while under water.

POULTRY

BLACKHEAD CAN BE CONTROLLED

Disease Is Caused by Animal Germ in Young Fowls.

Blackhead of turkeys is one of the most dreaded diseases of this class of poultry, but destructive as it is, the trouble may be controlled.

"We find that blackhead is caused by an animal germ," says Dr. B. F. Kaupp, head of the poultry department at state college. "It generally attacks young turkeys from five to seven weeks of age on up until they mature. To tell definitely whether a bird has blackhead, one has but to open a dead bird and if blackhead is present, the liver will appear to be spotted. If the liver be cut through, these spots of dead tissue will be found scattered throughout. To prevent future spread of the trouble, the eggs for hatching should be soaked for ten minutes in a 1 to 10,000 solution of bichloride of mercury and hatched in an incubator or by a turkey hen away from chickens. Where blackhead is not on the premises, these precautions are not necessary. A drug called sulphaphenol may also be used. Always give the birds all the buttermilk or soured skim milk that they will drink. This tones up the general health conditions."

To learn more of the real nature of this disease, Doctor Kaupp will begin field studies with turkeys in the four mountain counties of Ashe, Madison, Jackson and Avery. These four counties have many turkeys and the owners have suffered losses in the past by reason of the blackhead trouble. Doctor Kaupp states that all the experimental work will be conducted under actual farm conditions and he hopes to find definite and practical control or preventative methods which may be used by all farmers.

Turkey-growing offers good profits, especially to the grower who is prepared to put first-class birds on the market at Thanksgiving and Christmas. There are many successful turkey farmers in various parts of North Carolina and if it is possible to find a practical control for blackhead, the industry should easily become more profitable.

Runner Ducks Classed as Heavy Egg Layers

Runner ducks are classed as laying ducks and are the only breed recognized in that classification. In many instances Runners have produced as many eggs as chickens. If managed properly ducks of this breed may be expected to lay almost as well as hens. These ducks are small in size, the males weighing four to four and one-half pounds and the females three and a half to four pounds. In spite of the fact that they are heavy layers they mature quite rapidly and make good broilers. They are killed for this purpose when they weigh about two and a half to three pounds. These ducks are long and narrow bodied. The body is carried very erect. There are three varieties of Runner ducks: Fawn and White Runners, Penciled Runners, and White Runners. In all three varieties the Runners are made in the proportion of one drake to each six or eight ducks.

Poultry Hints

A point to keep in mind in feeding mash to the turkeys is that they need the vitamin D provided by a good high-grade cod-liver oil just as badly as do chickens.

Most turkey raisers will wish to hatch the eggs in an incubator and brood the poults artificially. By doing this they can keep the turkey hens in production almost continuously.

There's no better feed for young poults than plenty of sour milk. Feed five times daily at first, but don't overfeed, and be sure to keep grit, charcoal and clean water before them at all times.

Build open sheds for turkeys to roost under as soon as they begin to want to fly up to roost.

Keep young turkeys shut up until one week old. Then turn out for a few hours each day during the warm part of the day until they are two weeks old.

Each turkey egg is worth a great deal more than a single chicken egg, and because of this fact the loss is greater when the eggs do not hatch or when they hatch into weak turkeys.

Start birds on bran and clabber mash if possible; otherwise, use corn bread.

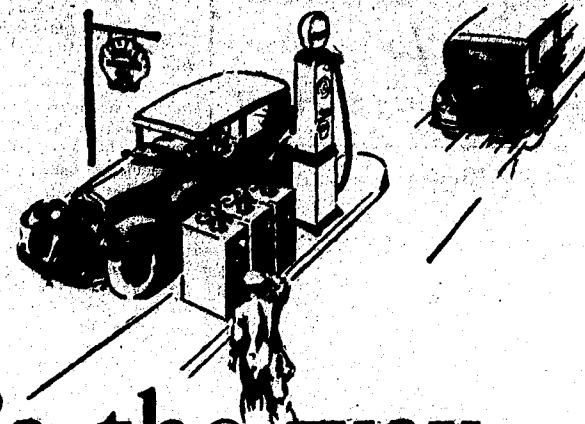

Don't try a late hatch unless you have separate enclosure for these late turkeys. Two ages of turkeys don't mix any better than two ages of chickens do.

Usually it is necessary to use one gander to every three or four geese. A young gander will do provided he is fully matured. Geese may be turned out in any moderately cold weather.

Here's the way to whip carbon

YOU have been fighting carbon ever since you drove your first car. You have probably come to accept carbon as a necessary evil... to consider frequent carbon removal and valve grinding jobs as unavoidable.

But thousands of owners of automobiles don't think so. They have found a way to get rid of the carbon complex. They have discovered that they can whip carbon with Shell Motor Oil.

Shell Motor Oil forms very little carbon. And what there is, is soot-like, fluffy and non-fouling. It readily blows out with the exhaust gases.

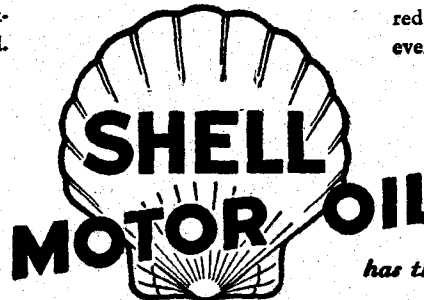

Regular users of Shell Motor Oil declare that this soft, sooty carbon does not foul spark plugs, choke ignition or pile up on piston heads. They find that it does not bake on valve seats or get in around piston rings, causing loss of power. They are not bothered by the danger of abrasive carbon particles in the crankcase with the lubricating oil.

To the man who asks for oil by name, we say: "Try Shell for 30 days"

To the man who asks for oil by name knows that there is a difference in oils. It won't be difficult for him to notice the quicker pickup, greater power and better all-around performance of an automobile with Shell in the crankcase.

Shell 400 "Extra Dry" Gasoline... means "More Power to You"... Ought to cost more, but it doesn't.

THE CARE OF YOUR MONEY

Take care of your money and it will take care of you.

If more people followed such a saying, and lived up to it along systematic, well thought out lines, their financial worries would soon be over.

Most men work hard for their money all their lives. Starting young, they earn meager salaries until gradually their income becomes large enough to provide a comfortable and pleasant living.

But while they are building up their earning capacity, they are busy providing for their families, that the all-important thought of saving for the future seldom gets serious consideration.

Few men in the prime of life realize that sooner or later they will be unable to work and that their income must come from another source. The wise ones save, but they usually are so busy with the general run of things, that they woefully neglect their investment problems. Few understand how to most advantageously invest their surplus funds so that they will double and triple in later years and bring an income that will enable them to retire.

But heedlessness of thrift and careless handling of investment funds isn't entirely the fault of the average business man. Very few have been taught the basic principles of investment, and fewer still acquire or inherit such knowledge. How to most profitably care for your money and how to get the most service from your surplus funds, has not been brought home to most of you in an easily understandable or convincing way.

Now, this newspaper is going to be of real assistance to you along these lines. By publishing a series of articles of an educational nature on investment subjects prepared by the Strass Brothers Investment Institute of Chicago. It is the aim of this newspaper to enlighten you with the high points of thrift and finance that will enable you to make the most of your money. The articles will be published in this column from time to time and will be easy to understand and to follow.

Read each one carefully and regularly and you will soon learn how to "take care of your money so that it will take care of you."

If you have any financial questions to ask, Strass Brothers Investment Institute, Chicago, will be glad to answer them without obligation on your part.

In New York a young man charged that his mother was keeping him eighty-year-old grandmother at home under lock and key. Maybe this was the only way she could keep grandma out of the night clubs.

THIS MAN IS FROM THE "SHOW ME" STATE

The East Michigan Tourist association is in receipt of a letter from the manager of a department in a St. Louis, Mo., bank, asking for information regarding East Michigan's summer time accommodations and appeals. His letter contains criticisms of accommodations offered by another state which should be an object lesson for East Michigan. The name of the state is deleted. He writes:

"In order to avoid a repetition of an almost disastrous trip through my state last year, I would appreciate any information you have available and can submit relative to hotel and resort accommodations in your state. We were assured last year that we would encounter no difficulty in locating the right kind of places in ----, but we traveled three or four days before we located what we were looking for. On our trip last year we made numerous inquiries but invariably received the same answer, 'I do not know!'"

This gentleman was sent information and a personal letter. He will find here the kind of accommodations he seeks and a different attitude on the part of the people here.

Chic Tweed Suit

Animated blue gray creates an interesting mixture for this tweed suit. A gray silk blouse is worn tucked in style and the gayly printed scarf repeats the color combination. The youthful bearing is of dark blue.

THE LIGHTHOUSES

The lighthouse, used so freely in metaphor, is made the subject of some interesting investigation by the Navy Recruiting Station, Detroit. It is learned that the first lighthouse built to aid navigation was erected at Alexandria, Egypt, 331 B. C. Boston Harbor had the first lighthouse in America. The highest light in America is at Cape Mendocino, on the California Coast, the brightest light is at the entrance to New York Bay and the largest lens used is at Mokapu Point, Hawaii.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

INTERESTING ITEMS OF NEWS GATHERED FROM THE FILES
OF THE AVALANCHE OF 23 YEARS AGO.

Thursday, June 14, 1906

Prod Hoesli made a business trip to Emmet county this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Trumley took advantage of the closed school last week and had a delightful visit at Lewiston and Johannesburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Niles were visiting family and friends in Gaylord a part of last week.

The school grounds have been graded and reseeded and a little care now will give us as fine a lawn as there is in the state.

The burned district in Gaylord is being cleaned up preparatory for rebuilding.

L. W. Coiter's home came near going up in smoke last Monday night from a fire which caught in the kitchen. It was put out by the neighbors, and no alarm turned in.

Mr. and Mrs. James Woodburn and Miss Florence Tromble attended the graduating exercises at Gaylord last week.

A letter from Rev. C. E. Scott informs us that they expect to sail for their new field in China, about September 1st.

Miss Bertha Woodburn was one of the successful graduates at the Normal School in Gaylord, last week Wednesday evening. Her work while there is highly commended by the faculty.

Miss Katie Bates attended the commencement exercises of the Normal school at Gaylord last week and visited with her aunt, Mrs. J. Hoyt.

An incipient fire at the side of James McNeven's barn yesterday called out the department, but it was extinguished without damage before their arrival.

Several cement crossings were put in last week, and walks laid on the entire east and west side of block three of the original plat of the village. Let the good work go on.

Dr. C. L. Hoyt, who returned from here to Ohio about three years ago has moved to Swift Current, Saskatchewan, Can., and taken a home-stand, and purchased a large body of land adjoining. He writes encouragingly of his prospects.

The railroad engines set fire south of the planing mill Tuesday, and burned a long string of fence on our farm, as well as their own. The north wind drove the fire away from the village. A second alarm of fire before noon yesterday gave the boys a run, but fortunately again they were not needed as the lumber yard crew had it under control. It was in the hardwood yard west of the track.

John Goudrow and Dr. Insley have graded the street in front of their residences and planted a lawn to the second row of trees. The same is being done around the Court House building, and we predict that in a few years Michigan and Peninsular Avenue will be two of the finest streets in Michigan.

The wedding of Miss Ethel Phelps, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Phelps, to Frank Canfield of Detroit was solemnized last Saturday evening in the presence of about sixty guests. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. C. O'Mara of Trinity church, the impressive ring ceremony being used. The bride was attended by Miss Anna Canfield as bridesmaid.

Grayling Lodge No. 852 elected the following officers last Monday evening for the ensuing year: N. G.—Emma McCullough. V. G.—Myrtle Corwin. Sec.—Ada Dexter. Treasurer—Francis Kraus. Miss Ada Dexter was elected delegate to the Grand Lodge.

Lovers of the national sport received their money's worth on our new ball field Tuesday afternoon when we lost to Cadillac by a score of 6 to 3.

Inside Information

Cottage cheese for sandwiches may be moistened with a little cream, with salad dressing, or with tomato catsup.

Leaflet 39, "Eggs at any meal," is a free publication issued this spring by the United States Department of Agriculture, containing many good recipes and suggestions about egg cookery.

One way to keep cool in the summer is to do as much of the necessary cooking as possible very early in the day. Have many cold dishes—salad, cold meats and jellied dishes, cooling beverages such as fruit drinks and when you can, eat on a porch or in the garden.

Fresh tomatoes can be filled with almost any left-over meat or vegetable for a stuffed tomato salad. A filling made of chopped meat, such as chicken, veal, or tongue, cooked peas, chopped pickle or cucumber, and salad dressing, is very good. After the tomatoes have been peeled and scooped out they should be seasoned inside with salt, turned upside down to drain, and placed in the icebox until time to fill and serve them.

GREER DEFINES GOOD DRIVERS

By Erwin Greer
(President Greer College, Chicago, Ill.)

There are drivers who almost never get into the hospital or the police house. They are good drivers.

Accidents the good driver avoids are these:

1. Sideswiping the car ahead, because he doesn't back his proper distance and allows himself time to stop.

2. Sideswiping, because he uses his rear sight mirror to keep a check on the man behind and signals him his intention of stopping, in time.

3. Sideswiping, because when he decides to pass the car ahead he announces his intention with the horn, to make sure the road in front is clear, and then swings out and around in a wide, easy curve that leaves the other fellow plenty of room.

4. Being sideswiped, because when the man behind sounds the horn to pass, the good driver gives him the road, and does not speed up in an attempt to "freeze him out", or swing over toward the middle of the road to squeeze him out.

Head-on collisions, because good drivers are sure the road ahead is free from oncoming cars before trying to pass a car traveling in the same direction.

Good drivers do not pass cars on curves, or anywhere else where a clear view of plenty of road ahead cannot be secured.

Good drivers have their own headlights properly adjusted to avoid blinding the other fellow. If the other fellow isn't so considerate, good drivers have a non-glare visor for emergencies.

Going into the ditch usually occurs at night, and good drivers carry road lamps or spot lamps which enable them to keep on the road, in spite of fog, or the glare of oncoming cars.

Grade crossing smash-ups are avoided by good drivers by not trying to beat a train across, and by never merrily sailing around the car ahead which had the good sense to stop when it saw an approaching train which was hidden from the cars behind.

Ninety per cent of the day's accidents come within the foregoing category, and the good driver easily avoids 90 per cent of these.

BE GOOD UNTIL 10 A. M.

A man from the middle west started off on a trip around the world, accompanied by his sister. Both were temperamental—the word is used here in the sense of, "difficult to get along with." They had four rows on the train, before they reached San Francisco. After they had cooled off, following the fourth disagreement, the sister proposed to the brother that they resolve not to lose their temper under any circumstance, before ten o'clock in the morning.

Not only were they not to quarrel with each other, but with no one else, until the hands of the clock registered 10 a. m.

The plan worked beautifully. The globe was circumnavigated with less friction than these two people were accustomed to endure in a single week at home.

The man who was head of a large business was so impressed that when he returned to his office he issued orders that no conferences were to be held, or ugly matters discussed, before ten o'clock.

"Keep your noses close to your desks the first two hours in the morning," he instructed his assistants. "If the mail brings bad news, keep it to yourself until the rest of us have got our eyes opened and have forgotten our domestic and automobile troubles."

That was fifteen years ago, and at lunch today the man said the meanness and bickering inside his organization had been markedly reduced, and that the rule is still in effect and observed by all.

FORDS CAPTURE MOST PRIZES

Under conditions more difficult than those which confronted Joffre's immortal "taxi cab army" in its frantic dash to the Marne in 1914, Model A Fords swept to victory in a specially arranged contest based on war emergencies staged by the military first aid section of the General Finnish Automobile Association.

Competing against fourteen different makes of automobiles manufactured in the United States and one Italian-made car, the sturdy Fords captured 18 out of 29 prizes. Ten of the fourteen "honor prizes" went to the Fords. Every Ford which entered the contest finished the 400 kilometer route. One was driven by a woman.

The purpose of the Finnish Automobile Association is to promote all-around driving training of its members in order that they may be able to take an active part in war maneuvers in a sudden emergency. Drivers received instructions regarding the route, parking places, and average speed required two minutes before the start of the race. No restrictions were placed on the size of the car or cylinder volume, which brought the Fords into competition with the more expensive and larger cars.

The race started from Helsinki, and the cars were started at intervals of a few minutes in different directions. "Control Stations" were located at various points along the course to check the speed and other requirements. Reports of the outcome of the competition have just been received in this country.

History tells us that the ancient Egyptians honored the cat when it was dead. The ancient Egyptians were certainly wise.

FROSTING does not make the cake

The best frosting won't make a poor cake good. But it will make a good cake better. Ethyl fluid can't make a poor gasoline good. It takes the best crude and proper refining to make a good gasoline. Ethyl added to proved dependable Red Crown makes the best gasoline you can buy!

there is only ONE RED CROWN ETHYL

You have known Red Crown gasoline for many years. You have proved Red Crown Ethyl gasoline for five years. They are known quantities with the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) back of every drop.

You have no way to test gasoline! You can hear the knocks but you can't see what causes them.

Poor gasoline may look like the best. You can't see the gums and the sulphur in it—but if they are present they are sure to damage your car.

Gums clog the pipes—form on valves—and valve heads do not seat properly. Sulphur causes acid—acid eats wrist pins and cylinders—and you pay for repairs.

To clear up gasoline, to take out sulphur, to eliminate gums, to make it sweet and clean are expensive processes. To insure this being done is why there is a minimum price you can afford to pay for gasoline. Red Crown is sold at that minimum price. You cannot afford to pay less!

If you'd like to know what your car can do, use Red Crown Ethyl. Try it on the longest run, in the heaviest traffic, up the steepest hill. At the wheel you can feel the difference Red Crown Ethyl makes.

You can get Red Crown Ethyl anywhere in the Middle West and the price is only 3c above Red Crown—which in turn is sold at as low a price as you can afford to pay.

At any Standard Oil Service Station and at most garages.

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their roads and streets at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars. In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new pavements—of permanent construction.

There are communities, however, which know the cheapest is not always the best. Many of these also built roads and streets several years ago. And they built for permanence with concrete.

These concrete pavements, built in accordance with approved standards of construction, are in as good condition today as when they were built.

Which of these communities will yours be?

Taller at Night or Morning?

Between the vertebrae of our backbone there is a cartilage disk which serves to absorb the shock of bodily movement. After being up all day these cartilages are said to be squeezed a little flatter and thus we are slightly shorter when bed time comes. Reclining and rest restores the elasticity and we arise at morning slightly taller. (By 1929, Western Newspaper Union.)

MAKING BOYS AND GIRLS INTO BETTER CITIZENS

"Congratulations, Burt. I understand that your boy has been made leader of the Boy Scout Troop. I'll bet he's proud."

"He is. George Stone is going to put an article about him in the weekly. And speaking of the weekly, do you know it was mainly responsible for the Boy Scout movement in this town many years ago."

"I am not surprised. The weekly has always been identified with every progressive movement that will make better citizens of our boys and girls. Right now, you know, they are arousing public interest in the projected municipal playground so that the youngsters need not play in the streets where they are in danger of automobiles."

"That is one of the biggest responsibilities and duties of the community newspaper—to be a leader in welfare work for the children of the town and country—and how well our weekly has lived up to this duty! There isn't a single commendable project that has come up that it hasn't taken the lead in endorsing. Playgrounds, a new high school, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, 4-H Clubs—the weekly has worked tirelessly to keep folks awake to the needs of our future citizens!"

RESORTS DO BIG DECORATION DAY BUSINESS

(By E. M. T. Service)
Resorts in many sections of East Michigan report the largest Decoration Day and week and May business in their entire history. Some resorts experienced difficulty in supplying the food needs of the visitors, so unexpected was the influx. All sections of East Michigan look upon this early business as an augury of East Michigan's greatest tourist year.

Most of us are wondering how long it is going to take for the gravel being taken from the road to be put on Michigan avenue to harden. Don't need any brakes when you strike into it. It is claimed that it will eventually get very hard but just now it doesn't look as tho it would ever get hard.

There are times when being late to public functions are unavoidable but it does seem as tho that in many cases it is carelessness. While the commencement programs were scheduled for 8:00 many came in long after the program was started, thus interrupting the speaking as well as the audience. Being punctual is a fine characteristic to cultivate.

Work on the paving of U. S.-27 is going on rapidly. The west half was completed for its entire length of nearly 2 1/2 miles last week. Monday the crew started on the second half near the Golf course and have progressed nearly to the old box factory—about half the course. Trucks are already driving over the west side of the highway and it looks as tho it wouldn't be long before the job would be finished. Another strip still needs to be built, on DuPont avenue along the golf course. Mr. Jeffrey and his men are certainly doing a fine job and doing it quickly.

Few people in Grayling realize how fortunate they are in having a theatre like the Rialto where they are able to see and hear the very best productions in Vitaphone (talking) pictures. Manager Olson is giving his patrons the same class of pictures that are offered by the best theatres in Detroit and other metropolitan cities. Last week his talking picture was Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer" was one of the best and very latest productions that are being offered theatre goers anywhere in the country. It drew an excellent patronage, many coming from Roscommon, Gaylord, and other nearby cities. Talking pictures are on the programs for every night in the week except Saturdays when good silent pictures are offered. Mr. Olson has a program scheduled for far in advance for pictures, every one of which is of the very best to be had. Those who enjoy this class of entertainment shouldn't miss a single one of them.

A very attractive 8-page folder advertising Crawford county has just been issued by the Board of Trade. It is printed in two colors and contains a number of Crawford county scenes that are real and not elaborated by artists—didn't need it. It also contains a map of our county. There is just enough reading matter to tell what it is all about. Anyone wanting one may address A. J. Joseph, secretary.

A Sweeping Success because it offers Big Car Qualities for only $745

The New Pontiac Big Six is a sweeping success—an even more pronounced success than its famous predecessors. And it owes its success largely to the fact that it offers big car qualities at low prices. Oakland produced this car to enable progressive people to step up in motor car quality without leaving the low-priced field. And the very people for whom it was created have made it an impressive sales success.

Pontiac Big Six, $745 to $895, f.o.b. Pontiac, Michigan, plus delivery charges. Bumpers, spring covers and Lowley shock absorbers regular equipment at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list price when comparing automobile values. . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only reasonable charges for handling and for financing when the Time Payment Plan is used.

VALEDICTORY ADDRESS BY LEWIS W. ENGEL

Education is the bunk. It takes too long. The seats are too hard. Besides I don't like the teachers. What's more, I might be working and getting money. We've been monkeying in it and with it too long now.

Such are probably the thoughts which come to one's mind at the spur of the moment or to those who have not really experimented in this field.

Even in the few years that we seniors have been in the process of education, we know that the just uttered statements are not true, that they are hasty and weak conclusions.

Education has had a much larger growth than is at first realized. It is the collection of knowledge obtained thru training and experience thruout one's life. Many people think that it is merely the knowledge obtained while going to school or college. To the contrary it is not. It begins much sooner. It begins when a child is old enough to learn not only words but also to learn and imitate actions which go on about it. This first stage of education is very important for the training of a small child may determine whether or not he shall later be a good citizen of his country. If he is taught to obey his mother's rules he will then have a very good background upon which to build his future. He will be much more likely to succeed in his life than that child who, thru early negligence, has not been taught to obey.

Of course if the child's training is not carried on thru the first years of schooling, he is still likely to shift from the right path, or the path to fame and distinction, to a path which can lead to disgrace and perhaps to imprisonment. We, however, are getting away from this danger more and more. A few years ago a child was punished very severely if he did some wrong, whether he was aware that it was wrong or not. Now, however, if a child does some wrong he is not punished or whipped as the earlier practice has been. In our elementary schools we have officers and teachers who are working for the good of the child. If he does some wrong he is taken into the confidence of his teacher and she talks it over with him, advising him as to the right course to be taken. I will admit this method does not always work, for the child may take the attitude that he can do wrong and get away with it. But in the largest part of the cases this method of instruction instead of punishment has proved more of a success than the old method. Punishing may let a child know that he has done some wrong but it certainly does not tell him what is right.

Now, after the child has finished his training in the elementary school he may decide that he has had enough schooling. He may wish to go to work. Great numbers of children leave school when they have finished the eighth grade. But it is an unquestionable fact that a child of 14 years is not ready to go out into the world and shift for himself. It is obvious that he is too young and too easily influenced by those with whom he may associate. This immaturity might easily result in his becoming an outlaw or criminal. He may work and make a living but may not be satisfied. He may want something extra coming into his pocket. At the same time he has this idea he becomes associated with a person who obtains money by unlawful means, but who always has a lot of it to spend. Then the boy who is not making so much thinks, "If he gets his money so easily and plentifully without effort, why shouldn't I? Why should I work so hard for so little?"

He tries it and is caught, goes to prison and is thereafter branded as a criminal. His life has been a failure. If he had gone on in his schooling he would have been older and would be better learned in the ways of man, at the time he enters as an individual into the affairs of the world. His power of reasoning would have been more highly developed and he would be better able to detect right from wrong and have power enough to make his own decision.

All of this is dealing in generalities. The value of education is shown with startling strength by statistics. They show that a child with high school education has 87 times the chance of a child with no education and 22 times the chance of a child with elementary education. Out of 33 million children with elementary education only 800 attained distinction, which out of 2 million with high school education over 1200 attained distinction. It is estimated that every day that a child attends school during his first 12 years, is worth $9.00 to him. Then, any child staying out of school to work for less than $9 is losing by doing so; and there are very few today who with no high school education are earning $9.00 a day. On an average, high school educated men earn double the salary of the man who has learned only the three antique R's (reading, 'riting, and 'rithmetic.)

These facts not only speak out in clear challenge to all, to engage in the opportunity of such training, but also with telling effect shout the truth. No education means one must be content to have little or at the best mediocre success in life.

A high school education is, then, a fair basis of preparation for one's life work, but if one wishes to be highly trained in his line he should attend college. Many people think that attending college is merely a waste of money and time. But it is not. Instead it is a gain. A person with college education has ten times the chances of performing distinguished service as has one who has graduated from high school. Only about 1% of the men in the United States are college educated, but out of this group comes over 50% of the men who perform distinguished service. When the Constitutional Convention was held, over 50% of its delegates were college bred. That was about 150 years ago and since then education has developed to a much higher standard. In Washington, the capital of our country, thousands of men and women are employed in governmental positions. When the applicants gather there, who, may we ask, are selected for the positions? The college graduates, of course. They are preferred every time. It is the same way with any company or business organization.

There are, too, certain professions today which require of one, specific training before he can qualify. A person going to college takes some work that he likes and studies and learns the more vital things about it. When he has finished his complete course he is considered ready to undertake a position in his line and then can begin practicing his profession. Everywhere speakers of prominence are suggesting as the one solution to many and varied problems—education. This being the one hope we must not fail to realize and recognize its value. It is valuable to one in the earlier stages of youth. It becomes increasingly valuable as one matures. Finally, the real success of our country depends on its leadership as on the large group of the mass of people cooperation. If this group of leaders is not built up and constantly replenished by college men, those prepared in every sense of the word, failure will be threatening. But if this need is recognized, there will be; there can not but be as a result of education, a noticeable achievement in the individual, and a far less noticeable but much more important achievement in the stability of our civilization.

At this time we are about at the conclusion of what will probably be the last event participated in by us as a class. We must say farewell, for we realize that in a short time we shall probably be separated to our different fields of occupation. By this we do not mean farewell to our friendships for we hope that in our voyage of life, our friendships will be ever deepened.

It is with a sense of regret that we say farewell to those who will support the standards of the school, and we say it with the hope of confidence that they will carry on successfully in our stead.

We do earnestly say—farewell.

NEWS REVIEW OF CURRENT EVENTS

Progress of the Farm Relief Measure—MacDonald Now British Prime Minister.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD

NOW known as the agricultural marketing act, the farm relief bill came out of conference last week and was then accepted by both the house and senate. It was scheduled to be in the hands of President Hoover for signature about June 12. From the bill as modified the export debenture plan was omitted, all the conference except Senators Norris of Nebraska and Smith of South Carolina voting for this course. On other features the measure represents a compromise between the senate and house bills, the essential points of the latter being retained. Provision is made for a farm board composed of the secretary of the treasury and eight members appointed by the President at salaries of $12,000. The President will designate the chairman of this board. Commodity advisory councils are to be set up to advise the board on methods of dealing with crop surpluses.

Commodity stabilization corporations, all the stock of which is owned by co-operatives, are authorized to buy, store, and market surplus commodities. The stabilization corporations will be able to obtain loans from a $500,000,000 revolving fund at the disposal of the farm board. Only such part of this fund as congress appropriates will be immediately available. The board may make loans for the handling of crop surpluses and also for the purchase of warehouses and other physical market facilities and may make advances to co-operatives for various purposes, including loans for insurance against price decline. The board may fix the terms of the loans, the interest rate being limited to an amount approximating the rate on outstanding government securities.

President Hoover let it be known that the administration would ask congress to appropriate, before recessing, as much as $100,000,000 from the half billion fund authorized, with a view to having it available for handling the wheat surplus. Department of agriculture experts said this immediate appropriation should be $200,000,000, for they believed more than half that sum would be needed for wheat alone, the price of which has fallen very low. This does not mean necessarily that the entire amount will be loaned to the wheat stabilization corporation to be set up by co-operatives with the approval of the farm board. Some of the supporters of the Hoover farm relief program believe that if a stabilization corporation buys as much as 25,000,000 or 50,000,000 bushels of wheat it will have a tremendous effect on the market, provided it is known that the corporation can borrow unlimited additional funds from the farm board.

SENATOR SMOOT, chairman of the senate finance committee, announced the make-up of the four groups of subcommittees which will consider various schedules of the tariff bill. They are to hold hearings simultaneously, beginning June 13. The first list and administrative provisions will be handled by the full committee.

Paris industrial newspapers urge the French parliament to find some means of erecting retaliatory tariff barriers against United States products. Indeed, throughout most of Europe there is deep resentment against the proposed American tariff measure. The presidents of the European chambers of commerce in a report stated that the policy of the United States is incomprehensible "if one considers its financial requirements," for this country is not only Europe's creditor but also is the holder of the greater part of the world's gold; and if American ports are closed to European merchandise the debtor countries are cut off from their only means of raising money to settle their debts.

PRESIDENT HOOVER in a message to congress asked that the senate and house appoint a select committee to study the matter of concentrating and reorganizing the bureaus charged with enforcement of the dry laws in co-operation with his special commission on law enforcement. At the same time the Treasury department announced the opening of a new drive to stop liquor smuggling in the Detroit area.

PASSAGE of the census and reapportionment bill was accomplished in the house, but only after the majority leaders had faced the measure from negro disfranchisement and alien exclusion amendments that threatened to bring about its defeat. The final vote was 272 to 106.

GERMAN reparations are now up to the governments of the allied nations and Germany, for the commission of experts has concluded its great task with the adoption of the Young plan, the main features of which were given in these columns a week ago. Seventeen weeks of nerve wracking discussion thus came to an end, and while it could not be said every one was satisfied, all at least were relieved.

"Well, are you glad it is over?" some one asked Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, the chief German delegate.

"Who would be glad over the prospect of paying $487,000,000 in the next thirty-seven years and then not be through?" he snapped back.

The Belgian representatives at a creditors' meeting in Paris announced that they would accept the German offer for settlement of the Belgian claims for compensation of the Belgian warthless German marks unloaded in Belgium during the war. This settlement is to be negotiated directly between Germany and Belgium and must be completed before the Young plan goes into effect next September 1.

In Berlin it is thought that a political conference will be called in July to sanction the report of the experts and to take up the question of evacuation of the Rhineland.

President Hoover and Secretary of State Stimson cabinet their congratulations to Messrs. Young, Morgan, Perkins and Lamont, the Americans on the experts' commission who really brought about the settlement.

RANSAY MACDONALD, chief of the Labor party, is now prime minister of Great Britain and his cabinet has been sworn in. Stanley Baldwin handed in his resignation Tuesday and the king immediately summoned MacDonald to form a new government. He submitted the names of the principal members of his cabinet and they were approved by his majesty, who sat up in bed and chatted and joked with the new prime minister for a hour, for they are very good friends.

It was reported in London that Lloyd George was willing to give the Laborites the support of his Liberal following on condition that an electoral reform bill be introduced and no realy contentious legislation, such as widespread nationalization schemes, be proposed. The question of the mining industry may present difficulties in which the Laborites and the Liberals cannot agree. The biggest matter on which they are agreed is unemployment relief. The schemes of both parties include large appropriations for building of new houses, slum clearance, drainage of land and reclamation, construction of new roads, and electrification and reorganization of the railways, and afforestation on a wide scale. In foreign affairs the Liberal and Laborites are in complete accord.

THREE months in jail are not enough for the punishment of Harry F. Sinclair, the oil magnate. The Supreme Court of the United States last week unanimously upheld the decision of the District of Columbia Supreme court which sentenced Sinclair to serve six months in jail for hiring detectives to shadow the jury in the first Fall-Sinclair criminal conspiracy trial almost two years ago.

Henry Mason Day, vice president of the Sinclair Exploration company and Sinclair's personal representative in the shadowing of the jury, must serve a jail sentence of four months. William J. Burns, head of the detective agency which supplied the detectives, was sentenced to serve 15 days at the same time Sinclair and Day were sentenced by Justice-Fredrick L. Siddons. The Supreme court reversed the Burns sentence, but permitted a fine of $1,000, imposed on his son, W. Sherman Burns, secretary of the detective agency, to stand.

CHARLES G. DAWES, our new ambassador to the Court of St. James, called for England after a final conference with President Hoover and Secretary Stimson. On June 26 General Dawes is to receive the degree of doctor of civil law from Oxford university.

COLONEL and MRS. LINDBERGH finally were found, not by reporters but by a steamer captain who discovered the money-mongers aboard Lindy's express cruiser Moquette when he helped moor the craft at a pier at Block Island. The Moquette was purchased by the colonel just before his wedding, and he and his bride boarded it at a lonely spot on the Long Island shore. Tuesday, the little craft put to sea again, apparently headed for the Maine coast, and again Lindy dodged the press and camera men by going around Cape Cod instead of through the canal. Newspaper reports said a piece of canvas was draped over the stern of the Moquette, hiding its name, and coast guards in Boston declared the colonel for this reason was incurring the danger of being fired on by their patrol boats.

WHILE the Shriners were gathering in Los Angeles for their annual meeting and joyfest, the Supreme court in Washington handed down an opinion that gives the negro organization known as the Ancient Egyptian Arabic Order of Nobles of the Mystic Shrine the right to continue the use of its name and insignia. White shriners in Texas had objected to the activities of the negro organization and to its insignia. They won in the lower courts. Justice Van Devanter in delivering the opinion, to which no dissent was announced, said the white shriners by their failure to object within a reasonable time had lost their right to act.

PORTERS and maids in the employ of the Pullman company have won their three years' struggle for higher pay, having been given a wage increase of $5 a month and various improvements in working conditions. The agreement was reached in a conference between officials of the company and 21 elected representatives of the 12,000 porters and maids. The Brotherhood of Sleeping Car Porters was ignored by the company.

Big building operations in Chicago were held up for several days by a strike of the bridge and structural iron workers, in which the architectural iron workers joined. The former demanded a wage scale of $18 a day, an increase of $1. This was soon agreed to by the Steel Erectors' association, but the Iron League held out longer.

THOUSANDS of Italians who lived on the slopes of Mt. Vesuvius were driven from their homes when that volcano indulged in another big eruption and poured rivers of lava down its sides. The property damage was immense but the loss of life was kept to a minimum by the precautionary steps of the authorities. Tourists were prohibited from approaching the danger zone.

THOUGH the Vatican and the Italian government last week exchanged ratifications of the Lateran pact, the relations between Pius XI and Premier Mussolini are not cordial. The duke addressed the parliament recently on the treaty, and the pope, in a letter to Cardinal Gasparri, characterizes the dictator's speeches as "heretical, modernistic, ponderous, erudite but full of errors and inexact." The letter indicates that there may be a long period of disputes over details and expresses the church's resentment of the fact that the state's bills giving effect to the Lateran treaty are not conceived in the same spirit as that pact.

NOBLE BRANDON JUDAH has resigned as ambassador to Cuba. Dr. Hubert Work has resigned as chairman of the Republican national committee. There were rumors that Work thought he had been ignored by the Hoover administration but the correspondence between him and the President contained no hint of this.
